

Question 716) - When one party has made an offer, does it become binding on the other party?

A: No. When one offers, the other has a choice. He may accept it in the same Majlis [sitting, gathering] or reject it. Once the second party accepts it, it becomes binding. Neither then has a choice.

~ al-Quduri ~