

He hired the animal to carry a certain weight of wheat and loaded it with more than that. The animal was injured.

Question 1033) - He hired the animal to carry a certain weight of wheat and loaded it with more than that. The animal was injured. What is his liability?

A: If the animal was capable of carrying that weight, then he is liable for the excess of the weight. If the animal was not able to carry it, then he is responsible for the entire damage.

~ al-Quduri ~