

Question 1131) - If one of them bought something and the capital of the other perishes before the purchase, what is the ruling between them?

A: The purchase is between them as per their agreement, and the one who bought the goods will seek claim from the partner his share of the price.

~ al-Quduri ~