

Question 2012) - You mentioned that there is no cutting of hands for stealing wood. Which wood did you refer to?

A: worthless wood which is not demarcated for ownership. If wood which has worth, which is sold and demarcated, is stolen then the thief's hand will be cut, if the value reaches 10 Dirham e.g. Indian oak, bamboo, ebony and sandalwood. Hands are also cut for stolen woodwork such as utensils and doors.

~ al-Quduri ~