

Question 718) - Once the transaction has been completed, does the buyer have any further options?

A: Yes, if a defect becomes apparent in the goods he bought he has a choice. He may return them or he may take them. The buyer has the same option of returning or accepting as long as he did not see the goods.

~ al-Quduri ~