

Question1860) - Do women acquire Walaul 'Itaqah?

A: Yes, if women free a slave, or the slave they freed frees a slave; or they make Kitabah or the slave they made Kitabah with made Kitabah; or they made Tadbir the slave they made Tadbir with made Tadbir; or drawing Wala of those they freed *; or the freed one of one they freed.

* The scenario of the drawing: A woman owns a slave' with her permission he marries a slave-girl who was freed. She then bears his child. The child's Wala is held by the ex-owners of the mother. If the woman then frees her slave, the child's Wala becomes drawn to himself. The ex-owner then draws that to herself.

The scenario of drawing the Wala of a freed slave's freed slave is that a woman freed a slave then that slave bought a slave. The second slave then married a freed slave-girl who then bore his child. The ex-owners of the mother hold the child's Wala. If the first slave frees the second slave ,the second slave draws the child's wala,then the first slave draws it to himself, then the woman ex-owner draws it to herself.

~ al-Quduri ~