

For a Boy to Perform the Taraaweesh salaah when he has Reached the Age of Fifteen

Q: Salaah-631: At what age can a boy lead the Taraaweesh salaah?

Answer: A boy can lead the Taraaweesh salaah when he comes of age. If there are no signs of maturity such as ejaculation. A child will be regarded as being of age when he reaches the age of fifteen. He will now be eligible to lead the Taraaweesh salaah. However, if there are no signs of maturity and a child is not a full fifteen years of age, it is in the interests of caution that he does not lead the Taraaweesh salaah.
