

Q: 113 ? Title: I have a friend who is a Sikh. He told me that when Gurunank went to Kaba, wherever he used to face his feet to sleep, Kaba would move to that side. Is this true?

Question

I would like to ask u a question in urdu, mera ek dost? jo? sikh mazhab se belong karta hai, usne mujhe kaha ke jab gurunank kabah mein gaye thhen, wahan jis taraf pair karke sote kaabah sharif unki taraf ho aata tha. is that true. muhe kuch batayeng.

I have a friend who is a Sikh. He told me that when Gurunank went to Kaba, wherever he used to face his feet to sleep, Kaba would move to that side. Is this true?

Answer

In the name of Allah, Most Gracious, Most Merciful

Assalaamu `alaykum waRahmatullahi Wabarakatuh

Even though this incident is mentioned in the Sikh books, it is not considered as a proof. Their books are not proof for us and nor is it accepted for historical aspects. One should not believe in the incident.

And Allah knows best

I have a friend who is a Sikh. He told me that when Gurunanak went to Kaba, wherever he used to face his

Wassalam

Darul Iftaa, Madrassah In'aamiyyah

?