

Q: 121 ? Title: My question is related to Qasam (Swear). 2 years ago i took swear upon the head of my wife that i will not smoke...after two year i have broken it.. my wife is pregnant and I am...

Question

My question is related to Qasam (Swear). 2 years ago i took swear upon the head of my wife that i will not smoke...after two year i have broken it.. my wife is pregnant and I am worrying about unborn baby, THat the effect of breaking swear can have bad effects on him...IS it possible kindly advise what should I do Asif

Answer

In the name of Allah, Most Gracious, Most Merciful

Assalaamu `alaykum waRahmatullahi Wabarakatuh

Any oath taken on the name of anyone or anything besides Allah Ta'ala will not be considered as an oath in Shari'a. An oath in Islam can only be taken by the name of Allah or by specific qualities of Allah Ta'ala. (Qudoori, P231)

Insha Allah, the unborn child will not be affected by this oath.

And Allah knows best

Wassalam

My question is related to Qasam (Swear). 2 years ago i took swear upon the head of my wife that i will not

Darul Iftaa, Madrassah In'aamiyyah

?