

Question 1350) - What will they do if the time period has expired but the crops are not yet ripe?

A: They will leave the crops until they ripen. The farmer [labourer] pays a market rent in proportion to his share of the produce of the earth until the crops are harvested. They will share the expenses of the farming in proportion to their rights.

~ al-Quduri ~