

A man shot an animal. He neither wounded it nor demarcated it. A second man shot and killed it. Does it belong to the first man or the second? Can it be eaten?

Question 2041) - A man shot an animal. He neither wounded it nor demarcated it. A second man shot and killed it. Does it belong to the first man or the second? Can it be eaten?

A: It belongs to the second man and can be eaten.

~ al-Quduri ~